

AP9703

Pressure Control ValveAbstract of The Disclosure

[0017] The present invention relates to a pressure control valve, in particular for electrohydraulic brake systems, including a valve member arranged in a valve housing and a sensor element for determining the fluid pressure that prevails in the valve housing. The fluid pressure in the valve housing is indirectly determined by the sensor element by way of the measurement of the deformation of the valve housing.

SUBSTITUTE SPECIFICATION